

Local briefs

JULY 10, 2009

---

UW Volunteer Center gets Character award

The inaugural Character In Action Recognition was presented this week to the United Way of Larimer County Volunteer Center staff and director, Adam Molzer.

These individuals were nominated by Suzanne Jarboe-Simpson for the character qualities of Responsibility, Diligence, Dependability and Initiative.

The Character Fort Collins Character In Action Recognition is presented on a monthly basis to individuals or groups who have demonstrated outstanding character that has impacted the community.

The volunteer center not only completes projects assigned to it but continues to expand upon successful programs such as Make A Difference Day, the Student Community Involvement Team, Business Cares and the Board Bank, among other projects.

Nominations for the Character In Action award must be submitted electronically to info@characterfortcollins.org no later than the 10th of each month in order for the nominee to be considered for the following month's recognition.

Coloradoan staff